Once upon a time there lived a baby dolphin.

The baby dolphin liked her home because she knew

The evil shark could not see her. One day the baby dolphin went out of her home to go find food.

She thought the evil shark could not see her because he didn't pop out of the water. But the shark was actually fishing behind the dolphins.

The dolphin didn't know that. So she kept on going farther and farther from her home until she found food. Then she turned around to leave only... Saw the shark.
The dolphin yells (help) (help)
The shark is trying to get me!
But no help could be found.

So the shark took the dolphin in his cave to have her for dinner. Unfortunately the dolphin was going to be the shark's fly or will she.

While the shark was sleeping, the dolphin was trapped in a seaweed cage. Luckily the dolphin liked to eat seaweed for a snack and she was hungry. So she gobbled it up.
Now that shark isn't so bright is he!

She was lucky that she got out of the cage. Everybody knows that seawaves don't hurt darts. So she escaped. About an hour after she left the park went up.

The shark said, "Where's my prey?
Where's my prey?" So he went out to find the dolphin. He searched and he searched until he approached the dolphin's cage.
Then the shark said, "I'm coming at baby dolphin!"

The baby fish scared the shark and the shark left and never returned.
